LinQ is a fast growing Perth based boutique investment house, which operates a Funds Management business and a separate Investment-Banking division.

- The Funds Management business includes the LinQ Resources Fund, an actively managed fund specializing in investments in small to medium resources companies. The fund has a venture capital style approach and invests through both equity and debt instruments.

- In addition, LinQ operates an Investment-Banking division, which performs a wide range of functions. These include corporate advisory services, arranging initial public offerings for emerging resources companies and equity/debt capital raisings.

LinQ is seeking a young applicant with postgraduate qualifications in the commerce/finance sector or ideally an MBA. A technical discipline such as geology or mining engineering would be an advantage although this is not a necessity. The applicant must be presentable, motivated and able to demonstrate a strong sense of self initiative. Additionally they will be required to travel (to both mine sites and where necessary to the east coast or overseas).

The Applicant we are seeking requires the following skills:

- Strong mathematical and analytical skills – The position requires the evaluation of companies in the resources sector both in Australia and offshore.
- Ability to articulate verbally at senior levels
- Sound computer skills – Applicant must be proficient in word processing, constructing PowerPoint presentations and Excel spreadsheets
- The ability to work well in a team environment with other highly skilled professionals including the Managing Director

The role at LinQ offers applicants an excellent opportunity to be involved in one of the largest specialist investment funds in the resources sector in Australia as well as obtain hands on experience under the guidance of highly skilled and experienced management.

If you wish to apply, please send your application via email to the address above. As part of your application we will require a short covering letter and an up to date CV inclusive of your academic transcript.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Regards,

Lisa Edwards
